AMERICANS TO FLY ACROSS ATLANTIC

WILL TAKE THE LEAP ON NON STOP TRIP SATURDAY MORNING

Coast Guard Air Craft Will Accompany the Intrepid Fliers Part of the Way If the Weather Will Permit—They Will Accompany the Fliers From Gloucester, Mass., and Give Them a Rousing Send Off.

America's attempt to secure the honor of being the first to fly without stop from New York to Paris was put off until Saturday morning when the weather bureau reported that the western half of the North Atlantic was rough with squalls.

Until almost 11:30 o'clock Thursday night Clarence D. Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud had hoped to hop off at 1 o'clock special weather report and decision was at last reached altho with expressions of deep regret to postpone the flight.

The flying time was tentatively set for 1 o'clock Saturday morning and Friday night another special weather report will be compiled by the weather bureau. If the weather is still unfavorable the procedure will continue until conditions prevail favorable to attempting the long hop.

By Saturday Charles Lindbergh, who arrived from St. Louis in a single seater, will be rested from his two day flight across the country and the attempt for the $25,000 Orteog prize may very likely develop into a race between the two monoplanes.

Charles A. Lindbergh, 25 year old air mail pilot, dropped out of the sky Thursday into the limelight of the great aviation drama, the New York-Paris flight.

The airman and his plane, which he had flown from San Diego, California in two days, immediately captured the imagination of the crowds on the Long Island flying fields, where two other transatlantic air expeditions are rushing preparations for the great adventure.

As Lindbergh's plane came to rest and the youthful pilot stepped out someone in the crowd asked: "You're not going to cut out for Paris are you?"

The question was meant for a test but there was something of superstitious awe in it, too, as tho it would not be unlikely for the tall young stranger who had nonchalantly flown 2500 miles to get within striking distance of Paris, to set out at once on the trip, not much longer than that he had just finished.

"No," replied Lindbergh, "I don't feel like getting off for a 35 or 36 hour hop right now."

Asked what food he planned to take, he answered:

"A couple of sandwiches and some water, I think."

Lindbergh, whose home is in Detroit, has been flying for the past five years. In that time he has made four forced parachute jumps from airplanes.

He is in the air mail service on the route from Chicago to St. Louis and has been granted an indefinite leave of absence for his Paris flight attempt, which he is making as a contestant for the Raymond Orteog $25,000 prize.

Since the death of Lieutenant Commander Noel Davis, Lindbergh is the only pilot properly entered for the prize.

When his plane was run into a hangar for the night, Lindbergh directed that it be placed where there were electric lights so that he could work on it tonight.

NOAH ANDERSON A BANKRUPT.

Meeker Terwilliger, attorney for Noah H. Anderson, of Columbus, filed a deed in bankruptcy in the United States court Thursday. The schedule shows that he has $1,250 or debts. He has been engaged in the coal business in Ashville.

PILOT CHAMBERLIN

Clarence Chamberlin, selected as pilot of the Wright-Bellanca plane in the projected nonstop flight from New York to Paris, is seen above in the cockpit of the machine.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Cincinnati —Anna Eva Fay is dead at her home in Melrose Highlands, Massachusetts, after almost a half century of mystifying audiences with her mind reading act. Born in the little Ohio town of Southington, she took the proverbial path to fame and fortune by departing as a girl for the stage. Instead, however, of following custom and playing little Eva or becoming a dancing girl, she devoted herself from the beginning to theosophy and mysticism.

Youngstown —Police Chief Leroy Goodwin will ask for eight more policemen for night duty following the announcement that the city would save $15,000 a year thru passage of the new state registration bill passed by the legislature.

East Liverpool —Ill health is believed to be the cause for the suicide of Mrs. Ethel Wasson, 29, Thursday night. She was found by her husband John, with a bullet wound in her temple and a revolver with one empty chamber in her hand.

Youngstown —Conference between city officials and R. S. Parson, chief engineer of the Erie railroad, for the purpose of discussing elimination of grade crossings is scheduled for this meeting at City hall. The meeting also was attended by representatives of the chamber of commerce and the board of trade.

Columbus — Twenty-three letters and petitions, representing thousands of individual citizens have been received by the State Utilities commission in opposition to the request filed April 27, by the Hocking Valley railroad for permission to abandon its trains Nos. 32 and 35 on the Hocking division and Nos. 118 and 132 on the river division. Hearing of the case has been set for Thursday, May 26.

Sandusky — Registration of City Manager C. Webb Sadler of Sandusky was received today by the city commission, culminating months of friction among departments of the government and business men. Sadler's resignation came in a struggle over the opening of the Cleveland-Sandusky highway, which had been closed by Sadler and City Engineer J. D. Eakin to allow new pavement to be laid.

James Funk was a business visitor in Columbus today.

CAROTID ARTERY IS SEVERED BY STEEL SLIVER

Jack Chybrak, Employee Dominion Construction Company Meets Jinx Friday.

An unusual accident befell Jack Chybrak, an employee of the Dominion Construction company, while laying steel rails on the Chesapeake & Hocking railroad, four miles south of this city Friday morning about 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Chybrak was wielding a spike maul, assisting in the coupling of a street rail when a splinter flew off the hammer, lodging in his neck and severing the carotid artery. The injured man bled profusely and the foreman of the gang, directed him to clutch the wound with his fingers and hurried him to the office of Dr. H. D. Jackson in charge of two fellow employees, Ivan Leavitt and Charles Godfray.

While the injured man was lying on the floor of the office of Dr. Jackson waiting for an ambulance to be taken to Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, he nonchalantly asked for a cigarette. The doctor did not object, and a lighted "fag" was placed in the wounded man's mouth and he puffed away, seemingly enjoying the smoke altho blood exuded from the wound. He had only been at work two days and nothing is known about him except that he has a wife and children living in Italy.

He was given first aid, but as his wound would require expert surgical attention, The Dominion company, thru the advice of Dr. Jackson had him removed to Mt. Carmel hospital and the Albaugh company ambulance hurried him to Columbus. Charles Godfray accompanied him.

DEATH OF BABY.

The infant, daughter of John W. and Gladys Baker Thomas, of South Pickaway street, born May 12, 1927, lived just one hour and died at 10:20 Thursday morning. The funeral service were held Friday morning. Interment in Forest cemetery.

Electric Current Will Pass Thru Their Bodies at Sing Sing Week of June 20.

Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray stood before Justice Townsend Scudder in the court room, Long Island City, New York and heard the sentence of death passed upon them as their punishment for the murder of Albert Snyder, Friday, May 13.

Justice Scudder ordered they be electrocuted at Sing Sing prison the week of June 20, 1927.

Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray were returned to their cells, with the promise that unless their sentences were relaxed they should sit in a chair and suffer electricity to pass thru their bodies until their hearts no longer beat.

Both defendants will be spared the trip to the prison at Ossining until Monday. Altho police motorcycles were stationed outside the court house, it was decided to postpone the journey.

CHALMERS PARKER

May Get Utilities Post—McKinney Is Rejected By Senate.

Governor Donahey was expected to send the name of Chalmers Parker, Columbus attorney, to the Senate as a member of the Public Utilities Commission to succeed Frank B. Mauller of Chillicothe.

The Senate Tuesday night rejected by a vote of 12 to 20 to confirm Walter D. McKinney of Columbus for the post. C. C. Bolton, Senate floor leader, refused to answer challenges as to why the organization had decided to turn him down.

Before the challenge was hurled at him, Bolton said McKinney had been found to be a "splendid and capable man but had not been endorsed by the local Republican organization."

The Senate confirmed Elbert H. Blair of Columbus as state superintendent of banks by a vote of 34 to none against.

The appointment of Dr. L. C. Siemon of Cleveland, as a member of the State Medical Board, was turned down by a vote of 9 to 20. Dr. Siemon is now on the board and will continue to serve in lieu of a successor.

TRY US FOR A WANT AD

MUST OUR FAIRIES LOSE THEIR HALO?

Fairies may be graceful and elusive and all that, as we were led to believe by our elders, but it is disheartening to learn upon good authority that they have no more intelligence than a kitten. Also, a fairy that wears wooden shoes is a bit disillusioning. E. L. Gardner, secretary of the Theosophical society of England, is an authority on fairies, and he recently told a New York audience that human beings cannot talk to fairies, since fairies have "about the intelligence of kittens." He reports that fairies often take on the sort of clothing worn by the people of the neighborhood in which they appear, and cites instances of fairies that have been seen wearing wooden clogs in the Lancaster region.

All of this is too bad. They have stripped from George Washington his robes of noble white, and they have taken the halo from above the shapely head of Ben Franklin. But who would have thought that these modern investigators would have broadcast to the shock-proof world that our fairies rate zero plus in the I. Q. test and wear wooden shoes when they go tripping among the cowslips!—McNaught's Monthly.

Apple-Growing Season Length

Every Variety Requires Definite Number of Days to Mature Fruit.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Everyone is more or less familiar with the fact that certain varieties of apples are grown in some sections of the country and other varieties in other apple-growing regions. What determines such varietal distribution? Is it the soil, the average temperature, rainfall, length of growing season, or a combination of all these factors?

Time to Mature Fruit.

From data gathered during the last four years, J. R. Magness, physiologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, concludes that every apple variety requires a definite number of days to mature its fruit after the blossoming season. Some varieties require 165 to 175 days, others 150 to 155, and still others ripen in less than 140 days from blossoming time. Apparently this time interval for maturity holds good for the different varieties regardless of other factors such as soil and climate, although these latter factors do have a bearing on quality.

Length of Season.

A careful analysis of the commercial adaptation of apple varieties in different sections of the United States indicates that this length of season required to bring any variety to maturity is the most important factor in its distribution. Varieties requiring 160 days or more, such as Winesap, Arkansas, Stayman Winesap, or Yellow Newton, are strictly limited to the South, the middle latitudes, and the Pacific coast sections where normal blossoming time is about May 1, or earlier, and first frosts occur about 160 days later. Varieties requiring 140 to 150 days to ripen, such as Jonathan, Delicious, or Baldwin, may be grown in the apple districts of the North where they are used as winter or storage apples. When grown in the South these short-season varieties are fall apples, and if held successfully must be placed at once in cold storage. Generally, winter storage varieties most suitable for any particular section of the country are those varieties which do not attain maturity until cool weather prevails.

Field Peas Valuable to Use in Rotation Scheme

Washington station not long ago put out a bulletin on field peas, reporting tests with the crop in rotations, and for hogging off in Washington. Here are the high points:

The yield of wheat following peas is less than wheat following good summer fallow, but greater than when it is preceded by corn or sunflowers.

A larger total yield of grain has been secured during equal periods of time in the rotations in which field peas have been used instead of summer fallow.

The average yield of field peas following wheat in four different rotations occurs is 22.7 bushels, while the average yield of spring wheat following wheat in four rotations in which this crop succession occurs is 21.9 bushels.

The varieties, Bangalia, Canada and Alaska, seed of which is usually readily obtained, were among the high yielders.

Pigs fed limited rations on sweet clover or alfalfa pasture made more rapid daily gains later while hogging off peas. In two of the three years' experiments, the pigs fed limited rations were marketed with those fed full rations at the same weight, age and condition. The feed cost of the pigs fed limited rations on pasture was less than that of the full-fed pigs. The pigs made average daily gains of from .94 to 1.25 pounds each while hogging off peas. The pork produced per acre of peas varied from 141 pounds with a 16-bushel crop to 244 pounds with a 30-bushel crop.

Agricultural Items

Navy beans do not yield well on extremely rich land.

Alfalfa and lime make a dollar out of a dime.

A permanent pasture insures a permanent income.

Check the grain drill before using to see that it is planting right.

There are only two reasons why a man should farm: because he likes farming and because he can make money at it. The good farmer combines the two.

Washing horses' collars with warm water keeps them clean and smooth. Collars scraped with a knife are likely to become rough and be the cause of sore shoulders.

More than half of the total area of woodland on farms in New York state is pasture and therefore is on the down grade toward final extinction.

To be well built a silo must have air-tight walls, be round in shape, have smooth, perpendicular walls, have strong walls which will not bulge, and be deep in proportion to its diameter.

GOODYEAR

Establishes a New Production Mark At Akron Factory.

"When the hundred-millionth Goodyear tire was produced in April by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company at Akron, Ohio, it marked a manufacturing accomplishment without parallel in the rubber industry," according to W. H. Nelson, Goodyear dealer in Circleville.

"This achievement is of particular significance to the tire user and car owner," Mr. Nelson said, "for into every Goodyear tire goes the experience gained in establishing a world's record in tire production, and the skill of the largest development and engineering organization in the tire business."

"In addition to one hundred million pneumatic tires, Goodyear has produced more than three million solid and cushion tires and thousands of bicycle and carriage tires in the early years of the company's existence."

"Beginning in 1898 the Goodyear organization started a line of unbroken developments in tire building which included the first practical cord tire, the pneumatic truck tire, and the company's latest product, a scientifically designed balloon tire which was placed on the market in January of this year after two years of development and road service on the Goodyear test car fleet.

"The widespread acceptance of this new tire has been remarkable, more than one million being sold in eighty days in all parts of the world," Mr. Nelson declared. According to the local Goodyear dealer it would require 55,524 freight cars comprising a railroad train more than 420 miles long to transport the one hundred million tires built by Goodyear.

Read Mr. Nelson's new ad on the sixth page of this issue.

Torture

"I think," said the great social student, "I think it was a mistake to abolish the ducking stool for gossiping women. There should be some way to punish a woman who gossips."

"There is," said the practical guy. "All you gotta do is just blindfold her when new people are moving into her neighborhood so that she can't see what kind o' furniture they've got, and let 'er suffer!"—Brooklyn Enterprise.

Louder and Funnier

An Irish woman said to her husband: "You told me your work kept you late."

"Yes, my dear."

"Then how is it Mr. Murphy saw you at the ball game?"

"Oh, that wasn't me, my dear. I saw that fellow there myself, and I'll admit he looked a lot like me."—Boston Transcript.

SWIMMING CONTEST

Being Arranged Between Circleville A. C. and Chillicothe A. C.

Dr. Schlegle of the Glenwood Inn, near Chillicothe, was in the city Tuesday evening in company with Messrs. O'Brien and Udell of the Chillicothe Athletic Club and arranged with President Ben Gordon of the local Athletic Club for a swimming contest to be held between the two clubs on Decoration Day at the swimming pool at Glenwood Inn. The winning team will be the recipient of a loving cup and the local club will pick their team for the contest at their next meeting, Tuesday, May 17th. A committee from the Chillicothe Athletic Club will be in the city next Wednesday for a joint meeting of the two clubs will complete the arrangements.

The names of the contestants will be announced later.

By Contrast

When one looks at the Chinese wall, the pyramids of the Roman roads, and thinks of the misery and death which accompanied their building, one questions whether the accomplishment was worth the price in human suffering. What a contrast between these ancient methods of construction and the power era which our country enjoys today.—Dunkirk Observer.

CENTRAL OHIO PEOPLE FOND OF ICE CREAM

The people of central Ohio have established a record as eaters of ice cream.

According to a statement issued by
the Ohio Dairy Products association,
residents of the central Ohio district,
which embraces Franklin, Marion,
Delaware, Morrow, Knox, Licking,
Union, Madison and Pickaway counties, eat more ice cream than the average, taking the United States as a whole. So far this year, consumption of ice cream in this district has been 7.5 per cent greater than it was in the corresponding period last year
and while Ohio has only 5.5 per cent
of the population of the United States it produces 7.27 per cent of the total gallonage of ice cream.

W. A. Wentworth, secretary of the Ohio Dairy Products association, announced that Everett Antrim, of Columbus, and C. C. Williams of Westerville, had been chosen chairman
and vice chairman, respectively, of the central Ohio ice cream district.

DEAD BORERS ARE PREFERRED
BY ISLANDERS

Descendants of the First Corn
Borer Found in Ohio Now
Have Hard Going.

Tho the European corn borer may not be much of a swimmer, it can float, and the corn borer moth can fly. Pondering that, residents of the islands off the Ohio coast of Lake Erie want the rest of the world to the world to know that the corn borer control campaign includes islands
as well as mainland.

Residents of Kelleys Island, for instance, where the European corn borer was first discovered in Ohio in 1921, went after that first borer's descendants with a vengeance recently.

With most of the island's cornland
in shape to pass inspection, there was left one two-acre patch on a farm now abandoned. The tenant died last winter. The corn had to be cleaned up.

Forty Sandusky Kiwanians, led by County Agent M. R. Myers, chartered
a boat for Kelleys Island. Accompanied by 20 islanders, all equipped with hoes and rakes provided by the government, they made short work of the two acre patch. As they hoed
and raked and burned the cornstalks,
a movie man "shot" film for display
later in movie houses the country
over.

Two years ago on Kelleys Island
about every other cornstalk was infested. The islanders decided the borers were getting too thick. Since plowing is difficult on that rocky island, fire did away with the cornstalks, and the infestation was cut in half, a count by federal scouts showed.

SPECIALIST ADVISES ON USE OF FEET

Pedal Extremities, Big or Little, Not So Simple and
Should be Studied.

It may be because a man's feet are
so far from his eyes and mind that he often fails to learn how to use them.

In the first place, feet are complex structures, says Esther A. Gilman of the physical education department at the Ohio State university. Correct
position in standing and walking,
Miss Gilman believes, has much to
do with keeping feet strong, useful,
and free from pain and discomfort.

On the use of the feet while standing, Miss Gilman offers three suggestions: Stand on both feet always;
stand and walk with both feet parallel, about 6 inches apart, and with toes straight ahead.

And third, stand with weight of
body falling on center of feet, a little to outer side, where there are bones to support it, because the weight falls thru the center of the knee, ankle and center of feet. If the ankle is allowed to sag inward, all the body weight lowers and etrains
the arch of the foot. This sagging of the foot on the inner side is often
the beginning of flatfoot and severe pain.

In walking, Miss Gilman points
out, the feet should point straight ahead, and the weight should come down thru the center of the knee, ankle, foot and toes. The toes should grip the floor each time as the weight leaves the foot. This keeps the arch under the ball of the foot strong.

To rest the feet when sitting cross ankles and let weight rest on outer borders.

Insoluble Glue

In order to render glue insoluble in water, even hot water, it is only necessary, when dissolving the glue
for use, to add a little potassium bichromate to the water and to expose the glued part to the light. The proportion of potassium bichromate will vary with circumstances, but for most purposes about one-fiftieth of the amount of glue used will suffice.

FINED FOR TAKING CARD FROM HOUSE.

The arrest and conviction at London this week of Mrs. Frank Gilliland of near London for removing a quarantine card from her home, revealed Thursday by county health officials, marks the first case of this kind in the county in many years, it not in the history of the county.

Mrs. Gilliland's payment of the fine of $5 and costs imposed by Squire Francis McGuire, London, closed the case and caused it to come to light, it was stated.

The unusual case resulted from the woman taking down the quarantine card for diphtheria placed on the house by Miss Nancy J. Cummings, Madison county health nurse, after it had been found that Lester, aged 19, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland, was ill with the disease. He had been working in the Hocking Valley shops in Columbus and had been allowed to come home when found ill.

AMUSEMENTS

"God Gave Me Twenty Cents" came to the Met theater last night and gave a capacity audience the thrill of its life. Herbert Brenon's latest Paramount production was adapted by John Russell from Dixie Wilson's story, and in it, Brenon has caught all the color, comedy, beauty and suspense contained in the original story.

As the heroine, charming Lois Moran is better ever, serving as a splen did contrast to the lark beauty loaned by Lya de Putti, (the sensation of "Variety.") Jack Mulhall is good in whatever he does and this, his latest part, is no exception to the rule. Appearing as a "heavy" for the first time, William Collier Jr., does well in the fourth major role.

"God Gave Me Twenty Cents" opens during the New Orleans Mardi Gras. Mulhall, a rough sailor, meets Lois and they are married. Some days later, when his boat is about to leave, Miss dePutti, an old flame enters into the plot, and the happiness of the newlyweds. How she uses an old gambling trick in her effort to win back the man of hers and what eventually happens as she almost succeeds, make Mr. Brenon's current film one that can easily be placed on the same high plane as his justly famous "Beau Geste."

FORDSON TRACTOR

Corn Plowing Demonstration Monday
There will be a corn cultivating demonstration on Monday, May 16, (weather permitting) using the Fordson-Moline corn cultivator now on display at R. L. Brehmer's. The demonstration will be held on the Lee Shaner farm, three miles south of Circleville on the Chillicothe pike, right along the road.

Ira Marshall, the champion corn grower cultivated his last year's crop with this outfit, so it will be worth while to see this demonstration, especially since it is the first opportunity that Pickaway county folks have had to see this outfit, which gives complete cultivation, even behind the drive wheels of the tractor. 12mayd3.

Japan Develops Film Art

Japanese motion pictures have always been popular in the Orient, and those about Indians, and the "Wild West" have been especially popular. Chaplin films also found a ready favor, but Japan is rapidly developing a film art of its own. The most popular film in Japan today is one called "Schoolmaster Matsumoto." It is an extremely simple story of the grammar grades, the climax being the rescue by the schoolmaster of one of his pupils who had fallen into the river. The film, though so simple in theme as to arouse wonder among American movie experts, ran for a full year continuously in Tokyo.

TUNE THE HOME TO THE SPIRIT OF SPRINGTIME

The very love of living makes itself felt in shining, graceful fiber. Its porous coolness, gay finish, its very lightness is as rollicking and carefree as the first robin's song.

Wicker has always been bewitchingly lovely but never quite so beautiful as it is this season.

MORE THAN 1,000 WOLVES KILLED IN TEXAS DRIVE

Poison Used to End Lives of Marauding Animals in Big Bend Country.

Marfa, Texas.—More than one thousand wolves were killed in the Big Bend region of Texas in a ten days' poisoning campaign conducted by Henry Lindley. It required 40,000 baits to bring about the wholesale death of these predatory animals. The mixing of the poisonous baits was done under the supervision of C. R. Landon of the predatory animal control division of the United States biological survey.

The poison dose consisted of 50 per cent strychnine placed upon a piece of fresh fat pork, two inches square and one-fourth of an inch thick. The animals seemed to have a special liking for the pork and they came out of the mountains in great numbers and gulped down the bait. Upon one ranch, within a radius of a few hundred feet, 28 wolves were found lying dead the morning following the laying of the poison.

It was in response to complaints from ranchmen of the Big Bend region that wolves were killing young calves, lambs and kids in great numbers that Mr. Landon came here and made an investigation of the situation. He conferred with a number of ranchmen and arranged for their cooperation in the mixing and spreading of the baits.

He instructed them as to the proportion of strychnine to be used upon each piece of fresh pork and in other matters connected with the campaign of extermination that was about to be started.

The poisoning work will be continued and it is expected that in a few months this part of the upper Rio Grande border will have been pretty well cleared of wolves.

Fighting Fish Afford Siamese Real Sport

Washington.—Bull fighting, cock fighting and pugilism fail to thrill the Siamese, who still prefer their ancient national sport—combats between selected pairs of carefully bred battling fish.

A report to the Commerce department from Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former United States commissioner of fisheries, declares that the Bangkok champion of the fish bowl is now able to swim for six hours of attack and counter-attack against his finny rivals.

That stoutest fighter of the watery arena is scarcely three inches long. Nevertheless, his performance is enthusiastically followed and heavily wagered upon. There are ten licensed establishments in the Siamese capital, which present public exhibitions of fish prowess. The tiny little scrappers are placed side by side under water in glass globes. The winning fish is the one which continues the attack longest.

Doctor Smith's chief interest in the sport lies in the scientific fact that a combative spirit in the species of fish used has been carefully built up and extended by the Siamese fish breeders during hundreds of years.

Plan to Use Lights to Film Deep Canyon

Walla Walla, Wash.—Plans are under way to string electric wiring in the chasm of the Snake river in Idaho to furnish artificial light for a series of motion pictures. The canyon of the Snake river is the deepest in the world and even in midsummer little daylight ever gets into the bottom, where the crooked stream roars through foam and mist.

A battery of powerful searchlights would solve the hindrance to successful pictures, photographers believe. Western scientists are interested in the feat and will accompany any expedition into the Snake river chasm.

Freak Windstorms Put Snow in Fantastic Shapes

Longmire, Wash.—Freak windstorms on the slopes of Mount Rainier have been the artistic means of piling the deep snow into fantastic shapes. Viewed from here recently the huge drifts resembled strikingly a great polar bear stretched out on the skyline. The same day fierce winds whipped the surface snow into another creation declared by observers to resemble extensive displays of sacks of flour piled in rows upon rows.

Shadow, on Device, Can Stop a Train

New York.—An electrical current-controlling device that operates on one-billionth of a watt and which it is claimed will warn of the approach of thunderstorms and guard valuables, was demonstrated by its inventor, D. D. Knowles, twenty-eight years old, a research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The device, which closely resembles a radio tube, is so sensitive that it can be operated by the mere approach of the human hand. It is possible by use of the device, for a passing shadow or a dewdrop to turn on the lights of a city or start or stop a railroad train, the inventor said.

Just think of leaving your iron indefinitely, without bothering to pull out the plug, and upon your return find that the temperature is just right to continue your ironing.

No waiting around while a cool iron heats—no worry or fear that a hot iron will do damage if forgotten.

The Swiss have a peculiar custom of molding into gravestones in their churchyards photographs of the dead whom they are raised to commemorate. As one passes along the walks of the little burial grounds faces of old men and women, and many children, gaze upon the visitor, many of them with quaint expressions in their eyes.

Make-up With Airbrush

In some theatrical performances and in the movies, it is often necessary to put a "make-up" on a larger portion of the performer's body. In ordinary manner of procedure, this requires considerable time, but the operation has been recently hastened by the use of an airbrush. The coloring matter is practically sprayed over the surface to be covered and much time is saved.

MAZER LINKS
EX-DETECTIVE
WITH MURDER

Tells of Taking Floyd Streitenberger To Scene of Slaying—Pat Went Along.

Canton, O., May 11.—Louis Mazer, Canton underworld figure, took the stand here today in the trial of Floyd Streitenberger, former local detective, and told how Streitenberger had plotted the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton Daily News editor.

Mazer told how he and Streitenberger had taken McDermott, already convicted of the murder, from the scene of the crime in an automobile, how they recovered the murder pistol and the joy expressed by Streitenberger over the murder.

Mazer, who seeks immunity through his confession of complicity in the plot, told the jury that Streitenberger had told him that "someone ought to beat Don Mellett up and run him out of town."

Mazer said that Streitenberger was anxious to get rid of Mellett because of the trouble Mellett was causing Seranus Lengel, police chief at that time.

Mazer said he was introduced to Pat McDermott by Ben Rudner, who told Mazer that Pat had a pal and that the two were bail dodgers from Boston. The witness declared that Rudner told him Pat and his pal would "beat up a guy for $200," and that they were looking for something to do.

Streitenberger was apprised of the presence of Pat and his pal by Mazer, the witness declared.

"I told Mr. Streitenberger all about that offer and he said: 'Bring that man around by all means.'"

The defense objected at several points in Mazer's story, but each time was overruled by Judge Frank Clevenger.

During the testimony Streitenberger glared steadily at Mazer, trying to attract the eye of the witness. But Mazer looked steadily at the lawyers questioning him for the state.

A barrage of rumors was laid over the court house as Mazer took the stand ahead of other witnesses scheduled to testify.

One rumor said the recessed grand jury would be called into session immediately and that an individual closely connected with Streitenberger would be indicted.

Special Prosecutor C. M. McClintock and Detective Ora Slater went out of Canton for several hours and this added to the excitement.

Decision to hear Mazer at once followed testimony of Steve Kascholk, "alleged squealer," who outlined the conspiracy against Mellett in testimony yesterday.

Flag on New Building

The origin of the custom of placing a flag or tree when the highest part of any structure is completed, the editor of Contractors and Engineers Monthly believes, originated in Germany. It is simply a good luck omen and was designed to protect the building from evil spirits. In other countries it is still the custom for the owner to treat the workmen to "drinks" as soon as the tree is placed on the ridge pole.

MARRIAGE FOR MONEY IS AIM OF BROADWAY SHEIK.

Marrying for riches has become a skilled and almost weekly performance with the Broadway sheik, says O. O. McIntyre in an article in this week's Liberty. "He is perfectly willing to marry them one week and permit them to trot over to Paris the next for a weekend divorce," the writer explains, "provided, of course, they do not forget that a gentleman must live in the fashion to which his new wife has been accustomed."

"Hundreds are skipping from hall rooms to marble mansions," McIntyre continues, "having bridged the wide gap with the polite palaver of Broadway's pseudo-exquisites. For they have a palaver, these boys, even if they do appear to be all cuffs and teeth. They can draw an 'How extrawd'nry!' that would pass muster in Piccadilly."

"The sheik is one of those hybrid humans that Broadway spawns. He does not follow the usual Roaring Forty hole of 'living hard and dangerously.' His motto is: 'Be a fop and cop an heiress.' There is nothing in his vredo preventing him from accepting money from those whom he woos."

OLD LUTHERAN PARSONAGE IS BEING RAISED

The Lutheran parsonage on East Mound street is being torn down to make room for a new building to be used by the Sunday school and as a social room where entertainments will be held.

The two story brick which is being torn down was built by Adam Hiser back in the seventies. Rev. Mr. Shultze and family were the first occupants. The old building was built substantial and would have stood for a number of years. The rafters, setudding and flooring and joists are solid oak, the stair rail and supports are of cherry, while the cupboards, doors, door and window frames are walnut. This last wood was native and was so common back in the days when the house was built that it was used for firewood, fence posts and any old thing.

The old parsonage was taken down by a bunch of hustlers, who are members of the brotherhood of the church. John D. Hummel, the boss of the gang, was pushing a wheelbarrow filled with brick and the boys worked until dusk. They began work wrecking the building last Monday and now have it down to the foundation.

The building committee has the plans and specifications ready and will let the contract soon.

The new building 125 feet long and 42 feet wide, will be built of dark red crepe faced brick and will be two stories high. The first floor ceiling will be 12 feet high; the second floor ceiling 14 feet. The first floor will be used by the junior Sunday school pupils and the second floor by the senior Sunday school. The second floor will be used for entertainments. In the rear of the building will be arranged and social affairs will be given on this first floor.

It is expected that the building will be finished by fall, so it can be used before the snow flies.

DRESS SO TIGHT IT HAD TO BE SEWN ON ACTRESS.

The beautiful clothes worn in the movies often give more trouble than pleasure to the wearer, declares a popular movie actress in an article in this week's Liberty. "The hours I have spent in the fitting room! I count them over, and each one is by no means a pearl!" she complains.

"The camera is such a fiend at recording clothes," she explains. "A seam or wrinkle in the cloth that no one would notice in real life becomes a flaw discernible by every woman of taste when I appear on the screen. I remember an evening dress—in my last picture that I had to be sewn into every time I wore it, to eliminate what the camera would have recorded as an ugly seam if it had been fastened in the ordinary way. I had to stand for three and a half hours while they draped some strips of beaded stuff around the bottom. It was the sort of dress that must fit as the skin of the apple fits the fruit. My stockings had to be sewn to my thighs to avoid the least appearance of dissymmetry."

"I can imagine women who see the dress on the screen lying awake nights as they try to figure out how I could have worn it," the movie actress continues. "Of course it would have been impossible in real life. But no trouble is too much to take for the screen."

It pays to Advertise.

FLOOD RELIEF NEXT SESSION OF CONGRESS

The suffering and distress which have come to our people in the south by reason of the floods, has touched the heart of the country. Not only was the original Red Cross fund of $5,000,000, which President Coolidge asked for subscribed in short order, but his plea for a duplication of that amount is also being handsomely met. The federal government itself thru the president, has already made large appropriations thru the army and other official bodies in the way of supplies, services and protection.

The president, it has been known, gave serious consideration to the possibility of calling an extra session of congress, to vote an even larger amount of relief. His advisors, including senators from certain southern states, felt obligated to counsel him that the situation was so pressing and imminent, that the normal delay which would occur before congress could be assembled, would bar the effectiveness of the appropriation if made. Hence, the decision to postpone that effort until the December session, when flood relief and control will be made the outstanding feature of the president's message.

WHO PAYS THE RADIO BILL?

Radio owners in Circleville and vicinity, delighted with the splendid programs received, have often wondered as to the expenses of the broadcast stations and who pays the bill.

No one knows just what this expense amounts to, but it is claimed by those who had had some practical experience that it exceeds that of the movies. One chain of stations and its advertising clients will spend more than two millions of dollars this year on entertainment alone. Any toll broadcaster who uses the net work an hour a week for 52 weeks will spend $260,000 per year. In some cases a jazz orchestra is paid $1,500 an hour for one hour a week for twenty weeks. Other top-notch entertainers receive from $1000 to $2000 for a single appearance on the air. What some of the great stars receive is a matter of conjecture, but it is generally more per hour than the divine Bernhardt was ever paid for a full week. It is claimed that the average program costs from $5000 to $7000 per day.

Radio entertainment is becoming more and more allied with the concert and theatrical fields. It is claimed that no fewer than 130 concert managers have been forced out of business and that the concert business has lost more than 22 millions thru radio invasion.

The controlling force and purpose back of all this broadcasting expense is advertising, and the various stations seem to believe it is worth while. On the other hand it is becoming evident that as artists and entertainers become better known their salaries increase to such an extent that it may over-balance the benefits.

LIBRARY VETO IS ATTACKED BY LIBRARIAN

Official Characterizes Governor Donahey's Action as "Blot on Ohio."

Veto by Governor Donahey of the entire appropriation for the state library was attacked Thursday by Herbert S. Hirschberg, state librarian, as "a blot upon the fair name of Ohio." He urged that the legislature pass the appropriation item of $126,000 over the governor's veto and insure continuance of the institution, which was founded 110 years ago.

"The veto affects directly and indirectly library service in every corner of Ohio. The library of 175,000 volumes gives local and state wide circulating and reference book service thru personal contact and direct mail," Mr. Hirschberg said.

Forty thousand of the 60,000 books circulated last year went to libraries outside of Columbus. Almost every library in the state calls upon the state library for expensive and out-of-the-way books not available locally.

"Rural and small city people are making increasing use of the service, in March alone, 3257 books were mailed to individuals in places where there is no library service."

Nearly 2,000,000 people in Ohio are still without library service. They live in the rural sections and in places of less than 2500.

"Abolition or even temporary discontinuance of the library would be a blow from which the state of Ohio would be long in recovering."

Pocket Health Machine

So small that it can be slipped into an overcoat pocket, a portable artificial sunlight generator weighing only two pounds, has been invented by a German scientist. The generator, which resembles a toy phonograph, can be plugged into an ordinary electric lamp socket. It consists of a little nickel-plated horn fitted to a circular metal case. Inside the horn are two specially prepared carbons, across which passes a spark giving out ultra-violet rays. A person sitting two feet away may have the whole body bathed in the rays.

POPPY DAY SATURDAY, MAY 21.

At the regular meeting of the auxiliary to the American Legion held in the Post room, Memorial hall Monday evening, arrangements were made to hold the annual Poppy day sale on Saturday, May 21.

Members of the auxiliary and their helpers will have these little flowers for sale on the streets of the city on that day. It is hoped that the sale this year will exceed that of last year which was the largest one that had ever been held in Circleville. The ambition of the auxiliary is to make each year bigger than its predecessor and they are asking the cooperation of the citizens in this matter.

The proceeds of this sale will be set aside in a separate fund to be used exclusively for relief work for ex-service men and their families. During the past year five veterans of the World war have been aided materially by the auxiliary from this fund. Help the members of the auxiliary by being courteous to them when they ask for your assistance.

THE HOUR HAS COME.

The time is at hand when the young people of Pickaway county should rally for the conservation of their interests in the World Movements and know those, who coming from afar, can tell of like interests so that all working for a great end may make the world better. For this very purpose and as a preliminary to such a meeting there will be a rally of the young people of the county at the Circleville U. B. church Friday evening, May 13.

Rev. Frank L. Freet, executive secretary of the Ohio C. E. union, will speak and tell of the great international convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, July 5 to 7.

"I'll be there; when the roll is called at the Circleville U. B. church, Friday evening 'I'll be there.'"

The Soft Answer

Supporting the hollowness of London's "smart" night life, we are able to relate an incident reflecting upon its spontaneity.

It concerns a substantial, middle-aged man who was given a seat beside the dancing space in one of these dens of rather pale iniquity. During the show one of the vivacious young women slipped out of line and, by way of making things livelier, pulled loose the man's tie and playfully rumpied his hair. When he showed signs of being annoyed, her expression of gaiety relaxed for a moment.—London Times.

AMERICANS TO FLY ACROSS ATLANTIC

WILL TAKE THE LEAP ON NON STOP TRIP SATURDAY MORNING

Coast Guard Air Craft Will Accompany the Intrepid Fliers Part of the Way If the Weather Will Permit—They Will Accompany the Fliers From Gloucester, Mass., and Give Them a Rousing Send Off.

America's attempt to secure the honor of being the first to fly without stop from New York to Paris was put off until Saturday morning when the weather bureau reported that the western half of the North Atlantic was rough with squalls.

Until almost 11:30 o'clock Thursday night Clarence D. Chamberlin and Lloyd Bertaud had hoped to hop off at 1 o'clock special weather report and decision was at last reached altho with expressions of deep regret to postpone the flight.

The flying time was tentatively set for 1 o'clock Saturday morning and Friday night another special weather report will be compiled by the weather bureau. If the weather is still unfavorable the procedure will continue until conditions prevail favorable to attempting the long hop.

By Saturday Charles Lindbergh, who arrived from St. Louis in a single seater, will be rested from his two day flight across the country and the attempt for the $25,000 Orteog prize may very likely develop into a race between the two monoplane.

Charles A. Lindbergh, 25 year old air mail pilot, dropped out of the sky Thursday into the limelight of the great aviation drama, the New York-Paris flight.

The airman and his plane, which he had flown from San Diego, California in two days, immediately captured the imagination of the crowds on the Long Island flying fields, where two other transatlantic air expeditions are rushing preparations for the great adventure.

The question was meant for a test but there was something of superstitious awe in it, too, as tho it would not be unlikely for the tall young stranger who had nonchalantly flown 2500 miles to get within striking distance of Paris, to set out at once on the trip, not much longer than that he had just finished.

Asked what food he planned to take, he answered:

"A couple of sandwiches and some water, I think."

Lindbergh, whose home is in Detroit, has been flying for the past five years. In that time he has made four forced parachute jumps from airplanes.

He is in the air mail service on the route from Chicago to St. Louis and has been granted an indefinite leave of absence for his Paris flight attempt, which he is making as a contestant for the Raymond Orteog $25,000 prize.

Since the death of Lieutenant Commander Noel Davis, Lindbergh is the only pilot properly entered for the prize.

When his plane was run into a hangar for the night, Lindbergh directed that it be placed where there were electric lights so that it could work on it tonight.

NOAH ANDERSON A BANKRUPT.

Meeker Terwilliger, attorney for Noah H. Anderson, of Columbus, filed a deed in bankruptcy in the United States court Thursday. The schedule shows that he has $1,250 or debts. He has been engaged in the coal business in Ashville.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Cincinnati — Anna Eva Fay is dead at her home in Melrose Highlands, Massachusetts, after almost a half century of mystifying audiences with her mind reading act. Born in the little Ohio town of Southington, she took the proverbial path to fame and fortune by departing as a girl for the stage. Instead, however, of following custom and playing little Eva or becoming a dancing girl, she devoted herself from the beginning to theosophy and mysticism.

Youngstown — Police Chief Leroy Goodwin will ask for eight more policemen for night duty following the announcement that the city would save $15,000 a year thru passage of the new state registration bill passed by the legislature.

East Liverpool — Ill health is believed to be the cause for the suicide of Mrs. Ethel Wasson, 29, Thursday night. She was found by her husband John, with a bullet wound in her temple and a revolver with one empty chamber in her hand.

Youngstown — Conference between city officials and R. S. Parson, chief engineer of the Erie railroad, for the purpose of discussing elimination of grade crossings is scheduled for this meeting at City hall. The meeting also was attended by representatives of the chamber of commerce and the board of trade.

Columbus — Twenty-three letters and petitions, representing thousands of individual citizens have been received by the State Utilities commission in opposition to the request filed April 27, by the Hocking Valley railroad for permission to abandon its trains Nos. 32 and 35 on the Hocking division and Nos. 118 and 132 on the river division. Hearing of the case has been set for Thursday, May 26.

Sandusky — Registration of City Manager C. Webb Sadler of Sandusky was received today by the city commission, culminating months of friction among departments of the government and business men. Sadler's resignation came in a struggle over the opening of the Cleveland-Sandusky highway, which had been closed by Sadler and City Engineer J. D. Eakin to allow new pavement to be laid.

James Funk was a business visitor in Columbus today.

CAROTID ARTERY IS SEVERED BY STEEL SLIVER

Jack Chybrak, Employee Dominion Construction Company Meets Jinx Friday.

An unusual accident befell Jack Chybrak, an employee of the Dominion Construction company, while laying steel rails on the Chesapeake & Hocking railroad, four miles south of this city Friday morning about 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Chybrak was welding a spike maul, assisting in the coupling of a street rail when a splinter flew off the hammer, lodging in his neck and severing the carotid artery. The injured man bled profusely and the foreman of the gang, directed him to clutch the wound with his fingers and hurried him to the office of Dr. H. D. Jackson in charge of two fellow employees, Ivan Leavitt and Charles Godfray.

While the injured man was lying on the floor of the office of Dr. Jackson waiting for an ambulance to be taken to Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, he nonchalantly asked for a cigaret. The doctor did not object, and a lighted "fag" was placed in the wounded man's mouth and he puffed away, seemingly enjoying the smoke altho blood exuded from the wound. He had only been at work two days and nothing is known about him except that he has a wife and children living in Italy.

He was given first aid, but as his wound would require expert surgical attention, The Dominion company, thru the advice of Dr. Jackson had him removed to Mt. Carmel hospital and the Albaugh company ambulance hurried him to Columbus. Charles Godfray accompanied him.

DEATH OF BABY.

The infant, daughter of John W. and Gladys Baker Thomas, of South Pickaway street, born May 12, 1927, lived just one hour and died at 10:20 Thursday morning. The funeral service were held Friday morning. Interment in Forest cemetery.

CHALMERS PARKER

May Get Utilities Post—McKinney Is Rejected By Senate.

Governor Donahey was expected to send the name of Chalmers Parker, Columbus attorney, to the Senate as a member of the Public Utilities Commission to succeed Frank B. Mauller of Chillicothe.

The Senate Tuesday night rejected by a vote of 12 to 20 to confirm Walter D. McKinney of Columbus for the post. C. C. Bolton, Senate floor leader, refused to answer challenges as to why the organization had decided to turn him down.

Before the challenge was hurled at him, Bolton said McKinney had been found to be a "splendid and capable man but had not been endorsed by the local Republican organization."

The Senate confirmed Elbert H. Blair of Columbus as state superintendent of banks by a vote of 34 to none against.

The appointment of Dr. L. C. Siemon of Cleveland, as a member of the State Medical Board, was turned down by a vote of 9 to 20. Dr. Siemon is now on the board and will continue to serve in lieu of a successor.

TRY US FOR A WANT AD

MUST OUR FAIRIES LOSE THEIR HALO?

Fairies may be graceful and elusive and all that, as we were led to believe by our elders, but it is disheartening to learn upon good authority that they have no more intelligence than a kitten. Also, a fairy that wears wooden shoes is a bit disillusioning. E. L. Gardner, secretary of the Theosophical society of England, is an authority on fairies, and he recently told a New York audience that human beings cannot talk to fairies, since fairies have "about the intelligence of kittens." He reports that fairies often take on the sort of clothing worn by the people of the neighborhood in which they appear, and cites instances of fairies that have been seen wearing wooden clogs in the Lancaster region.

All of this is too bad. They have stripped from George Washington his robes of noble white, and they have taken the halo from above the shapely head of Ben Franklin. But who would have thought that these modern investigators would have broadcast to the shock-proof world that our fairies rate zero plus in the I. Q. test and wear wooden shoes when they go tripping among the cowslips!—McNaught's Monthly.

Apple-Growing Season Length

Every Variety Requires Definite Number of Days to Mature Fruit.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Everyone is more or less familiar with the fact that certain varieties of apples are grown in some sections of the country and other varieties in other apple-growing regions. What determines such varietal distribution? Is it the soil, the average temperature, rainfall, length of growing season, or a combination of all these factors?

Time to Mature Fruit.

From data gathered during the last four years, J. R. Magness, physiologist of the United States Department of Agriculture, concludes that every apple variety requires a definite number of days to mature its fruit after the blossoming season. Some varieties require 165 to 175 days, others 150 to 155, and still others ripen in less than 140 days from blossoming time. Apparently this time interval for maturity holds good for the different varieties regardless of other factors such as soil and climate, although these latter factors do have a bearing on quality.

Length of Season.

A careful analysis of the commercial adaptation of apple varieties in different sections of the United States indicates that this length of season required to bring any variety to maturity is the most important factor in its distribution. Varieties requiring 160 days or more, such as Winesap, Arkansas, Stayman Winesap, or Yellow Newton, are strictly limited to the South, the middle latitudes, and the Pacific coast sections where normal blossoming time is about May 1, or earlier, and first frosts occur about 160 days later. Varieties requiring 140 to 150 days to ripen, such as Jonathan, Delicious, or Baldwin, may be grown in the apple districts of the North where they are used as winter or storage apples. When grown in the South these short-season varieties are fall apples, and if held successfully must be placed at once in cold storage. Generally, winter storage varieties most suitable for any particular section of the country are those varieties which do not attain maturity until cool weather prevails.

Field Peas Valuable to Use in Rotation Scheme

Washington station not long ago put out a bulletin on field peas, reporting tests with the crop in rotations, and for hogging off in Washington. Here are the high points:

The yield of wheat following peas is less than wheat following good summer fallow, but greater than when it is preceded by corn or sunflowers. A larger total yield of grain has been secured during equal periods of time in the rotations in which field peas have been used instead of summer fallow.

The average yield of field peas following wheat in four different rotations in which this crop succession occurs is 22.7 bushels, while the average yield of spring wheat following wheat in four rotations in which this crop succession occurs is 21.9 bushels. The varieties, Bangalla, Canada and Alaska, seed of which is usually readily obtained, were among the high yielders.

Pigs fed limited rations on sweet clover or alfalfa pasture made more rapid daily gains later while hogging off peas. In two of the three years' experiments, the pigs fed limited rations were marketed with those fed full rations at the same weight, age and condition. The feed cost of the pigs fed limited rations on pasture was less than that of the full-fed pigs. The pigs made average daily gains of from .94 to 1.25 pounds each while hogging off peas. The pork produced per acre of peas varied from 141 pounds with a 16-bushel crop to 244 pounds with a 36-bushel crop.

Agricultural Items

Navy beans do not yield well on extremely rich land.

Alfalfa and lime make a dollar out of a dime.

A permanent pasture insures a permanent income.

Check the grain drill before using to see that it is planting right.

There are only two reasons why a man should farm: because he likes farming and because he can make money at it. The good farmer combines the two.

Washing horses' collars with warm water keeps them clean and smooth. Collars scraped with a knife are likely to become rough and be the cause of sore shoulders.

More than half of the total area of woodland on farms in New York state is pastured and therefore is on the down grade toward final extinction.

To be well built a silo must have air-tight walls, be round in shape, have smooth, perpendicular walls, have strong walls which will not bulge, and be deep in proportion to its diameter.

GOODYEAR

Establishes a New Production Mark At Akron Factory.

"When the hundred-millionth Goodyear tire was produced in April by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company at Akron, Ohio, it marked a manufacturing accomplishment without parallel in the rubber industry," according to W. H. Nelson, Goodyear dealer in Circleville.

"This achievement is of particular significance to the tire user and car owner," Mr. Nelson said, "for into every Goodyear tire goes the experience gained in establishing a world's record in tire production, and the skill of the largest development and engineering organization in the tire business."

"In addition to one hundred million pneumatic tires, Goodyear has produced more than three million solid and cushion tires and thousands of bicycle and carriage tires in the early years of the company's existence."

"Beginning in 1898 the Goodyear organization started a line of unbroken developments in tire building which included the first practical cord tire, the pneumatic truck tire, and the company's latest product, a scientifically designed balloon tire which was placed on the market in January of this year after two years of development and road service on the Goodyear test car fleet.

"The widespread acceptance of this new tire has been remarkable, more than one million being sold in eighty days in all parts of the world," Mr. Nelson declared.

According to the local Goodyear dealer it would require 55,524 freight cars comprising a railroad train more than 420 miles long to transport the one hundred million tires built by Goodyear.

Read Mr. Nelson's new ad on the sixth page of this issue.

Torture

"I think," said the great social student, "I think it was a mistake to abolish the ducking stool for gossiping women. There should be some way to punish a woman who gossips."

"There is," said the practical guy. "All you gotta do is just blindfold her when new people are moving into her neighborhood so that she can't see what kind of furniture they've got, and let 'er suffer!"—Brockton Enterprise.

Louder and Funnier

An Irish woman said to her husband: "You told me your work kept you late."

"Yes, my dear."

"Then how is it Mr. Murphy saw you at the ball game?"

"Oh, that wasn't me, my dear. I saw that fellow there myself, and I'll admit he looked a lot like me."—Boston Transcript.

SWIMMING CONTEST

Being Arranged Between Circleville A. C. and Chillicothe A. C.

Dr. Schlegle of the Glenwood Inn, near Chillicothe, was in the city Tuesday evening in company with Messrs. O'Brien and Udell of the Chillicothe Athletic Club and arranged with President Ben Gordon of the local Athletic Club for a swimming contest to be held between the two clubs on Decoration Day at the swimming pool at Glenwood Inn. The winning team will be the recipient of a loving cup and the local club will pick their team for the contest at their next meeting, Tuesday, May 17th. A committee from the Chillicothe Athletic Club will be in the city next Wednesday for a joint meeting of the two clubs will complete the arrangements.

The names of the contestants will be announced later.

By Contrast

When one looks at the Chinese wall, the pyramids of the Roman roads, and thinks of the misery and death which accompanied their building, one questions whether the accomplishment was worth the price in human suffering. What a contrast between these ancient methods of construction and the power era which our country enjoys today.—Dunkirk Observer.

CENTRAL OHIO PEOPLE FOND OF ICE CREAM

The people of central Ohio have established a record as eaters of ice cream.

According to a statement issued by
the Ohio Dairy Products association,
residents of the central Ohio district,
which embraces Franklin, Marion,
Delaware, Morrow, Knox, Licking,
Union, Madison and Pickaway counties, eat more ice cream than the average, taking the United States as a whole. So far this year, consumption of ice cream in this district has been 7.5 per cent greater than it was
in the corresponding period last year
and while Ohio has only 5.5 per cent
of the population of the United States it produces 7.27 per cent of
the total gallonage of ice cream.

W. A. Wentworth, secretary of the Ohio Dairy Products association, announced that Everett Antrim, of Columbus, and C. C. Williams of Wes-
terville, had been chosen chairman
and vice chairman, respectively, of
the central Ohio ice cream district.

DEAD BORERS ARE PREFERRED BY ISLANDERS

Descendants of the First Corn
Borer Found in Ohio Now
Have Hard Going.

Tho the European corn borer may
not be much of a swimmer, it can float, and the corn borer moth can
fly. Pondering that, residents of the islands off the Ohio coast of Lake Erie want the rest of the world to
the world to know that the corn bor-
er control campaign includes islands
as well as mainland.

Residents of Kelleys Island, for instance, where the European corn
borer was first discovered in Ohio in 1921, went after that first borer's descendants with a vengeance recently.

With most of the island's cornland
is in shape to pass inspection, there was left one two-acre patch on a farm now abandoned. The tenant died last winter. The corn had to be cleaned up.

Forty Sandusky Kiwanians, led by County Agent M. R. Myers, chartered
a boat for Kelleys Island. Accompanied by 20 islanders, all equipped
with hoes and rakes provided by the government, they made short work of the two acre patch. As they hoed
and raked and burned the cornstalks,
a movie man "shot" film for display
later in movie houses the country
over.

Two years ago on Kelleys Island
about every other cornstalk was infested. The islanders decided the borers were getting too thick. Since plowing is difficult on that rocky island, fire did away with the corn-
stalks, and the infestation was cut in half, a count by federal scouts
showed.

SPECIALIST ADVISES ON USE OF FEET

Pedal Extremities, Big or Little, Not So Simple and
Should be Studied.

It may be because a man's feet are
so far from his eyes and mind that he often fails to learn how to use
them.

In the first place, feet are complex structures, says Esther A. Gilman of the physical education department at the Ohio State university. Correct
position in standing and walking,
Miss Gilman believes, has much to
do with keeping feet strong, useful,
and free from pain and discomfort.
On the use of the feet while standing, Miss Gilman offers three suggestions: Stand on both feet always;
stand and walk with both feet parallel, about 6 inches apart, and with
toes straight ahead.

And third, stand with weight of
body falling on center of feet, a little to outer side, where there are bones to support it, because the weight falls thru the center of the knee, ankle and center of feet. If the ankle is allowed to sag inward, all
the body weight lowers and strains
the arch of the foot. This sagging
of the foot on the inner side is often
the beginning of flatfoot and severe
pain.

In walking, Miss Gilman points
out, the feet should point straight
ahead, and the weight should come
down thru the center of the knee,
ankle, foot and toes. The toes should grip the floor each time as the weight leaves the foot. This keeps
the arch under the ball of the foot
strong.

To rest the feet when sitting cross
ankles and let weight rest on outer
borders.

Insoluble Glue

In order to render glue insoluble in water, even hot water, it is only necessary, when dissolving the glue
for use, to add a little potassium
bichromate to the water and to expose
the glued part to the light. The proportion of potassium bichromate
will vary with circumstances, but for most purposes about one-fiftieth of the amount of glue used will suffice.

FINED FOR TAKING

CARD FROM HOUSE.

The arrest and conviction at London this week of Mrs. Frank Gilliland of near London for removing a quarantine card from her home, revealed Thursday by county health officials, marks the first case of this kind in the county in many years, it not in the history of the county.

Mrs. Gilliland's payment of the fine of $5 and costs imposed by Squire Francis McGuire, London, closed the case and caused it to come to light, it was stated.

The unusual case resulted from the woman taking down the quarantine card for diphtheria placed on the house by Miss Nancy J. Cummings, Madison county health nurse, after it had been found that Lester, aged 19, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilliland, was ill with the disease. He had been working in the Hocking Valley shops in Columbus and had been allowed to come home when found ill.

Among the names listed in the first Minneapolis directory, published in 1939, was that of Hans Von Sphik-shpokenblunggerfanger, who lived on Main street when St. Anthony and Minneapolis were twin villages on the Mississippi River.

AMUSEMENTS

"God Gave Me Twenty Cents" came to the Met theater last night and gave a capacity audience the thrill of its life. Herbert Brenon's latest Paramount production was adapted by John Russell from Dixie Wilson's story, and in it, Brenon has caught all the color, comedy, beauty and suspense contained in the original story.

As the heroine, charming Lois Moran is better ever, serving as a splendid contrast to the lark beauty loaned by Lya de Putti, (the sensation of "Variety"). Jack Mulhall is good in whatever he does and this, his latest part, is no exception to the rule. Appearing as a "heavy" for the first time, William Collier Jr., does well in the fourth major role.

"God Gave Me Twenty Cents" opens during the New Orleans Mardi Gras. Mulhall, a rough sailor, meets Lois and they are married. Some days later, when his boat is about to leave, Miss dePutti, an old flame enters into the plot, and the happiness of the newlyweds. How she uses an old gambling trick in her effort to win back the man of hers and what eventually happens as she almost succeeds, make Mr. Brenon's current film one that can easily be placed on the same high plane as his justly famous "Beau Geste."

Corn Plowing Demonstration Monday

There will be a corn cultivating demonstration on Monday, May 16, (weather permitting) using the Fordson-Moline corn cultivator now on display at R. L. Brehmer's. The demonstration will be held on the Lee Shaner farm, three miles south of Circleville on the Chillicothe pike, right along the road.

Ira Marshall, the champion corn grower cultivated his last year's crop with this outfit, so it will be worth while to see this demonstration, especially since it is the first opportunity that Pickaway county folks have had to see this outfit, which gives complete cultivation, even behind the drive wheels of the tractor. 12mayd3.

Japan Develops Film Art

Japanese motion pictures have always been popular in the Orient, and those about Indians, and the "Wild West" have been especially popular. Chaplin films also found a ready favor, but Japan is rapidly developing a film art of its own. The most popular film in Japan today is one called "Schoolmaster Matsumoto." It is an extremely simple story of the grammar grades, the climax being the rescue by the schoolmaster of one of his pupils who had fallen into the river. The film, though so simple in theme as to arouse wonder among American movie experts, ran for a full year continuously in Tokyo.

MORE THAN 1,000 WOLVES KILLED IN TEXAS DRIVE

Poison Used to End Lives of Marauding Animals in Big Bend Country.

Marfa, Texas.—More than one thousand wolves were killed in the Big Bend region of Texas in a ten days' poisoning campaign conducted by Henry Lindley. It required 40,000 baits to bring about the wholesale death of these predatory animals. The mixing of the poisonous baits was done under the supervision of C. R. Landon of the predatory animal control division of the United States biological survey.

The poison dose consisted of 50 percent strychnine placed upon a piece of fresh fat pork, two inches square and one-fourth of an inch thick. The animals seemed to have a special liking for the pork and they came out of the mountains in great numbers and gulped down the bait. Upon one ranch, within a radius of a few hundred feet, 28 wolves were found lying dead the morning following the laying of the poison.

It was in response to complaints from ranchmen of the Big Bend region that wolves were killing young calves, lambs and kids in great numbers that Mr. Landon came here and made an investigation of the situation. He conferred with a number of ranchmen and arranged for their cooperation in the mixing and spreading of the baits.

He instructed them as to the proportion of strychnine to be used upon each piece of fresh pork and in other matters connected with the campaign of extermination that was about to be started.

The poisoning work will be continued and it is expected that in a few months this part of the upper Rio Grande border will have been pretty well cleared of wolves.

Fighting Fish Afford Siamese Real Sport

Washington.—Bull fighting, cock fighting and pugilism fail to thrill the Siamese, who still prefer their ancient national sport—combats between selected pairs of carefully bred battling fish.

A report to the Commerce department from Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former United States commissioner of fisheries, declares that the Bangkok champion of the fish bowl is now able to swim for six hours of attack and counter-attack against his finny rivals.

That stoutest fighter of the watery arena is scarcely three inches long. Nevertheless, his performance is enthusiastically followed and heavily wagered upon. There are ten licensed establishments in the Siamese capital, which present public exhibitions of fish prowess. The tiny little scrappers are placed side by side under water in glass globes. The winning fish is the one which continues the attack longest.

Doctor Smith's chief interest in the sport lies in the scientific fact that a combative spirit in the species of fish used has been carefully built up and extended by the Siamese fish breeders during hundreds of years.

Plan to Use Lights to Film Deep Canyon

Walla Walla, Wash.—Plans are under way to string electric wiring in the chasm of the Snake river in Idaho to furnish artificial light for a series of motion pictures. The canyon of the Snake river is the deepest in the world and even in midsummer little daylight ever gets into the bottom, where the crooked stream roars through foam and mist.

A battery of powerful searchlights would solve the hindrance to successful pictures, photographers believe. Western scientists are interested in the feat and will accompany any expedition into the Snake river chasm.

Freak Windstorms Put Snow in Fantastic Shapes

Longmire, Wash.—Freak windstorms on the slopes of Mount Rainier have been the artistic means of piling the deep snow into fantastic shapes. Viewed from here recently the huge drifts resembled strikingly a great polar bear stretched out on the skyline. The same day fierce winds whipped the surface snow into another creation declared by observers to resemble extensive displays of sacks of flour piled in rows upon rows.

Shadow, on Device, Can Stop a Train

New York.—An electrical current-controlling device that operates on one-billionth of a watt and which it is claimed will warn of the approach of thunderstorms and guard valuables, was demonstrated by its inventor, D. D. Knowles, twenty-eight years old, a research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The device, which closely resembles a radio tube, is so sensitive that it can be operated by the mere approach of the human hand. It is possible by use of the device, for a passing shadow or a dewdrop to turn on the lights of a city or start or stop a railroad train, the inventor said.

The Swiss have a peculiar custom of molding into gravestones in their churchyards photographs of the dead whom they are raised to commemorate. As one passes along the walks of the little burial grounds faces of old men and women, and many children, gaze upon the visitor, many of them with quaint expressions in their eyes.

Make-up With Airbrush

In some theatrical performances and in the movies, it is often necessary to put a "make-up" on a larger portion of the performer's body. In ordinary manner of procedure, this requires considerable time, but the operation has been recently hastened by the use of an airbrush. The coloring matter is practically sprayed over the surface to be covered and much time is saved.

MAZER LINKS
EX-DETECTIVE
WITH MURDER

Tells of Taking Floyd Streitenberger To Scene of Slaying—Pat Went Along.

Canton, O., May 11.—Louis Mazer, Canton underworld figure, took the stand here today in the trial of Floyd Streitenberger, former local detective, and told how Streitenberger had plotted the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton Daily News editor.

Mazer told how he and Streitenberger had taken McDermott, already convicted of the murder, from the scene of the crime in an automobile, how they recovered the murder pistol and the joy expressed by Streitenberger over the murder.

Mazer, who seeks immunity through his confession of complicity in the plot, told the jury that Streitenberger had told him that "someone ought to beat Don Mellett up and run him out of town."

Mazer said that Streitenberger was anxious to get rid of Mellett because of the trouble Mellett was causing Seranus Lengel, police chief at that time.

Mazer said he was introduced to Pat McDermott by Ben Rudner, who told Mazer that Pat had a pal and that the two were bail dodgers from Boston. The witness declared that Rudner told him Pat and his pal would "beat up a guy for $200," and that they were looking for something to do.

Streitenberger was apprised of the presence of Pat and his pal by Mazer, the witness declared.

"I told Mr. Streitenberger all about that offer and he said: 'Bring that man around by all means.'"

The defense objected at several points in Mazer's story, but each time was overruled by Judge Frank Clevenger.

During the testimony Streitenberger glared steadily at Mazer, trying to attract the eye of the witness. But Mazer looked steadily at the lawyers questioning him for the state.

A barrage of rumors was laid over the court house as Mazer took the stand ahead of other witnesses scheduled to testify.

One rumor said the recessed grand jury would be called into session immediately and that an individual closely connected with Streitenberger would be indicted.

Special Prosecutor C. M. McClintock and Detective Ora Slater went out of Canton for several hours and this added to the excitement.

Decision to hear Mazer at once followed testimony of Steve Kascholk, "alleged squealer," who outlined the conspiracy against Mellett in testimony yesterday.

Flag on New Building

The origin of the custom of placing a flag or tree when the highest part of any structure is completed, the editor of Contractors and Engineers Monthly believes, originated in Germany. It is simply a good luck omen and was designed to protect the building from evil spirits. In other countries it is still the custom for the owner to treat the workmen to "drinks" as soon as the tree is placed on the ridge pole.

Bottle's Long Voyage

A bottle thrown into a creek in southern Illinois eight years ago has been found on the coast of the Philippine islands. The bottle contained the name of Miss Leona Smith with her address, and was tossed into the creek at Farnia, Ill. She has received word from Maurice Evans, a soldier in the Pacific islands, that he picked up the bottle on the seashore there December 29, 1926. The air line between the two places is 8,000 miles.

Canned Deer

A railroad in Alaska, it is stated, is contemplating the erection of a deer cannery for the preservation of reindeer meat. Food experts claim that the meat tastes like veal and retains the original flavor because it is cooked in the can.

MARRIAGE FOR MONEY IS AIM OF BROADWAY SHEIK.

Marrying for riches has become a skilled and almost weekly performance with the Broadway sheik, says O. O. McIntyre in an article in this week's Liberty. "He is perfectly willing to marry them one week and permit them to trot over to Paris the next for a weekend divorce," the writer explains, "provided, of course, they do not forget that a gentleman must live in the fashion to which his new wife has been accustomed."

"Hundreds are skipping from hall rooms to marble mansions," McIntyre continues, "having bridged the wide gap with the polite palaver of Broadway's pseudo-exquisites. For they have a palaver, these boys, even if they do appear to be all cuffs and teeth. They can draw an 'How extrawd'nry! that would pass muster in Piccadilly."

"The sheik is one of those hybrid humans that Broadway spawns. He does not follow the usual Roaring Forty hole of 'living hard and dangerously.' His motto is: 'Be a fop and cop an heiress.' There is nothing in his credo preventing him from accepting money from those whom he woos."

OLD LUTHERAN PARSONAGE IS BEING RAISED

The Lutheran parsonage on East Mound street is being torn down to make room for a new building to be used by the Sunday school and as a social room where entertainments will be held.

The two story brick which is being torn down was built by Adam Hiser back in the seventies. Rev. Mr. Shultze and family were the first occupants. The old building was built substantial and would have stood for a number of years. The rafters, setridding and flooring and joists are solid oak, the stair rail and supports are of cherry, while the cupboards, doors, door and window frames are walnut. This last wood was native and was so common back in the days when the house was built that it was used for firewood, fence posts and any old thing.

The old parsonage was taken down by a bunch of hustlers, who are members of the brotherhood of the church. John D. Hummel, the boss of the gang, was pushing a wheelbarrow filled with brick and the boys worked until dusk. They began work wrecking the building last Monday and now have it down to the foundation.

The building committee has the plans and specifications ready and will let the contract soon.

The new building 125 feet long and 42 feet wide, will be built of dark red crepe faced brick and will be two stories high. The first floor ceiling will be 12 feet high; the second floor ceiling 14 feet. The first floor will be used by the junior Sunday school pupils and the second floor by the senior Sunday school. The second floor will be used for entertainments. In the rear of the building on the first floor a kitchen will be arranged and social affairs will be given on this first floor.

It is expected that the building will be finished by fall, so it can be used before the snow flies.

DRESS SO TIGHT IT HAD TO BE SEWN ON ACTRESS.

The beautiful clothes worn in the movies often give more trouble than pleasure to the wearer, declares a popular movie actress in an article in this week's Liberty. "The hours I have spent in the fitting room! I count them over, and each one is by no means a pearl!" she complains.

"The camera is such a fiend at recording clothes," she explains. "A seam or wrinkle in the cloth that no one would notice in real life becomes a flaw discernible by every woman of taste when I appear on the screen. I remember an evening dress I wore in my last picture that I had to be sewn in to every time I wore it, to eliminate what the camera would have recorded as an ugly seam if it had been fastened in the ordinary way. I had to stand for three and a half hours while they draped some strips of beaded stuff around the bottom. It was the sort of dress that must fit as the skin of the apple fits the fruit. My stockings had to be sewn to my thighs to avoid the least appearance of dissymmetry."

"I can imagine women who see the dress on the screen lying awake nights as they try to figure out how I could have worn it," the movie actress continues. "Of course it would have been impossible in real life. But no trouble is too much to take for the screen."

FLOOD RELIEF NEXT SESSION OF CONGRESS

The suffering and distress which have come to our people in the south by reason of the floods has touched the heart of the country. Not only was the original Red Cross fund of $5,000,000, which President Coolidge asked for subscribed in short order, but his plea for a duplication of that amount is also being handsomely met. The federal government itself thru the president, has already made large appropriations thru the army and other official bodies in the way of supplies, services and protection.

The president, it has been known, gave serious consideration to the possibility of calling an extra session of congress, to vote an even larger amount of relief. His advisors, including senators from certain southern states, felt obligated to counsel him that the situation was so pressing and imminent, that the normal delay which would occur before congress could be assembled, would bar the effectiveness of the appropriation if made. Hence, the decision to postpone that effort until the December session, when flood relief and control will be made the outstanding feature of the president's message.

WHO PAYS THE RADIO BILL?

Radio owners in Circleville and vicinity, delighted with the splendid programs received, have often wondered as to the expenses of the broadcasting stations and who pays the bill.

No one knows just what this expense amounts to, but it is claimed by those who had had some practical experience that it exceeds that of the movies. One chain of stations and its advertising clients will spend more than two millions of dollars this year on entertainment alone. Any toll broadcaster who uses the net work an hour a week for 52 weeks will spend $260,000 per year. In some cases a jazz orchestra is paid $1,500 an hour for one hour a week for twenty weeks. Other top-notch entertainers receive from $1000 to $2000 for a single appearance on the air. What some of the great stars receive is a matter of conjecture, but it is generally more per hour than the divine Bernhardt was ever paid for a full week. It is claimed that the average program costs from $5000 to $7000 per day.

Radio entertainment is becoming more and more allied with the concert and theatrical fields. It is claimed that no fewer than 130 concert managers have been forced out of business and that the concert business has lost more than 22 millions thru radio invasion.

The controlling force and purpose back of all this broadcasting expense is advertising, and the various stations seem to believe it is worth while. On the other hand it is becoming evident that as artists and entertainers become better known their salaries increase to such an extent that it may over-balance the benefits.

LIBRARY VETO IS ATTACKED BY LIBRARIAN

Official Characterizes Governor Donahey's Action as "Blot on Ohio."

Veto by Governor Donahey of the entire appropriation for the state library was attacked Thursday by Herbert S. Hirschberg, state librarian, as "a blot upon the fair name of Ohio." He urged that the legislature pass the appropriation item of $126,000 over the governor's veto and insure continuance of the institution, which was founded 110 years ago.

"The veto affects directly and indirectly library service in every corner of Ohio. The library of 175,000 volumes gives local and state wide circulating and reference book service thru personal contact and direct mail," Mr. Hirschberg said.

Forty thousand of the 60,000 books circulated last year went to libraries outside of Columbus. Almost every library in the state calls upon the state library for expensive and out-of-the-way books not available locally.

"Rural and small city people are making increasing use of the service, in March alone, 3257 books were mailed to individuals in places where there is no library service."

Nearly 2,000,000 people in Ohio are still without library service. They live in the rural sections and in places of less than 2500.

"Abolition or even temporary discontinuance of the library would be a blow from which the state of Ohio would be long in recovering."

Pocket Health Machine

So small that it can be slipped into an overcoat pocket, a portable artificial sunlight generator weighing only two pounds, has been invented by a German scientist. The generator, which resembles a toy phonograph, can be plugged into an ordinary electric lamp socket. It consists of a little nickel-plated horn fitted to a circular metal case. Inside the horn are two specially prepared carbons, across which passes a spark giving out ultra-violet rays. A person sitting two feet away may have the whole body bathed in the rays.

POPPY DAY SATURDAY, MAY 21.

At the regular meeting of the auxiliary to the American Legion held in the Post room, Memorial hall Monday evening, arrangements were made to hold the annual Poppy day sale on Saturday, May 21.

Members of the auxiliary and their helpers will have these little flowers for sale on the streets of the city on that day. It is hoped that the sale this year will exceed that of last year which was the largest one that had ever been held in Circleville. The ambition of the auxiliary is to make each year bigger than its predecessor and they are asking the cooperation of the citizens in this matter.

The proceeds of this sale will be set aside in a separate fund to be used exclusively for relief work for ex-service men and their families. During the past year five veterans of the World war have been aided materially by the auxiliary from this fund. Help the members of the auxiliary by being courteous to them when they ask for your assistance.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE SUED?

No man likes to be sued. The notoriety is unpleasant, to say nothing of the worry and concern. And the cost—even if the jury doesn't bring in a $20,000 verdict against you—may run into hundreds of dollars.

How much better to have someone assume all responsibility, defend any suit and even pay any verdict a jury may return against you!

THE HOUR HAS COME.

The time is at hand when the young people of Pickaway county should rally for the conservation of their interests in the World Movements and know those, who coming from afar, can tell of like interests so that all working for a great end may make the world better. For this very purpose and as a preliminary to such a meeting there will be a rally of the young people of the county at the Circleville U. B. church Friday evening, May 13.

Rev. Frank L. Freet, executive secretary of the Ohio C. E. union, will speak and tell of the great international convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, July 5 to 7.

"I'll be there; when the roll is called at the Circleville U. B. church, Friday evening 'I'll be there.'"

The Soft Answer

Supporting the hollowness of London's "smart" night life, we are able to relate an incident reflecting upon its spontaneity.

It concerns a substantial, middle-aged man who was given a seat beside the dancing space in one of these dens of rather pale iniquity. During the show one of the vivacious young women stepped out of line and, by way of making things livelier, pulled loose the man's tie and playfully ruffled his hair. When he showed signs of being annoyed, her expression of safety relaxed for a moment.—London Times.
